ABOUT

At Pandy Farm Experience, we offer a unique and authentic glimpse into the daily life of a young hill farmer in North Wales.

Your host, Erin McNaught, is a fourth-generation farmer, a well-respected female figure in the agricultural world and known for her appearances on national TV.

Erin brings passion, expertise, and warm hospitality to every visit—making this a truly memorable experience for all ages.

Our location

Pandy Farm, Bala, North Wales

Pandy Farm is nestled in the hills near Bala, a historic market town at the heart of Eryri (Snowdonia) National Park in North Wales. Bala itself is a vibrant rural town known for its strong Welsh identity, warm community spirit, and stunning natural surroundings.

Tour details

As you step off the coach and breathe in the fresh mountain air, you'll be warmly welcomed by Del the sheepdog and your host, Erin.

Watch in awe as Erin and her team of expertly trained dogs put on a thrilling sheepdog demonstration. You'll see their incredible skill working with both sheep and, for a twist of fun, some lively runner ducks!

After guiding the flock into a secure pen, Erin introduces you to the hardy Welsh Mountain sheep—one of the native breeds of Wales, known for being “hefted” to the land. She’ll explain the significance of different wool textures and how traditional sheep grazing helps maintain the upland environment.

To finish the experience, gather in the characterful old barn for a well-earned cup of tea and freshly baked Welsh cakes. While you're there, take a moment to browse our small gift shop, where you'll find a selection of hand-made gifts crafted right here on the farm.

Sit down with Erin's grandparents and other members of the family to hear more stories, ask questions, or simply soak up the atmosphere of this living, working farm.

Watching the sheepdogs work was absolutely fascinating and the family's passion for farming clearly shone through. We learned so much, laughed a lot, and felt incredibly welcome.

Highlight of our trip!
